1942-1978

We'll pay you $288 a month to learn a skill.

Today's Army will do more than teach you a skill. We'll pay you while you learn it. And after you've learned it, we'll even give you a job. A good job. One with responsibilities. And rewards. As well as promotions and raises as you progress in it. We've always believed the willingness to learn should be rewarded. With a little more than gratitude.

And we figure $288 a month is quite a bit more. Especially since you can save most of it.

If you have a job now, we don't have to tell you how much you have left over after things like rent, groceries, and doctor and dentist bills.

Probably not much. In today's Army, you don't even have to think about things like that. Much less pay for them.

We take care of everything. Including 30 days paid vacation every year.

We give you the opportunity to continue your education, too. You can take specialized courses. Or go for a college degree. And we'll pay for most of it.

If you have the willingness to learn, it will be rewarded in the Women's Army Corps.

At a starting salary of $288 a month.

And that's something you can put in the bank.

Today's Army wants to join you.

The Army needs girls as well as generals.

Generals make the Army go. But so do girls.

Girls who can keep things moving in the office. Handle personnel. Figure the payroll. Work in fields like photography, medicine, public information.

Girls who can do these and dozens of other jobs get every chance to further their education. To advance in rank and pay. To travel and share the Army adventure.

Off duty, they meet and make dozens of new friends. It's a big Army, after all, and it's full of young people who want to go places and do things.

If you'd like to be somebody that others depend on, the Army needs you.

Just ask a general if that isn't so.
